Guidelines on Documentation and Submission of Dissertations

1. INTRODUCTION

A dissertation is an essay advancing a new point of view resulting from research as a requirement for a bachelor's degree.

All Undergraduate students at the SLIIT should follow the under mentioned instructions before preparation of their dissertations.

The final copies of the dissertations will not be accepted if the students have not prepared the dissertation according to these guidelines.

2. Common Instructions

01. Students must submit as follows.

Draft: One set of copies (1 group report and 4 individual summary reports)

Final (soft copies): One set of copies (1 group report and 4 individual summary reports)

Final (Hard bound): (if you need to take a copy of the report)

02. Page Format

2.1 Report submission: The report to be submitted to the folder. One and a half line spacing is required, except for the abstract, tables, and indented quotations where single line spacing may be used.

2.2. Fonts: A conventional font type must be used, and text should be in Times New Roman.

- Chapter heading : All Capital—14 Font size, Bold
- Section heading : Title case-12 Font size, Bold
- Sub-section heading : Sentence case-12 Font size, Bold
- Body text : Sentence case - 12 Font size
- Tables and Illustrations : Font size may be varied while maintaining. legibility

2.3. Margins of 40 mm on left & bottom and 25 mm on top & right should be used (Refer Appendix I).

03. Pagination

Each page should have page numbers except the "Title" page. Lower case Roman numerals should be assigned centered at the bottom of the page to all "preliminary pages" (Refer Appendix II; i - ix in content page). The pagination of the body text and appendices is to be in Arabic numerals centered at the right bottom of the page. The pagination begins with the first page of the first chapter and continues throughout the rest of the text.

04. Tables and Illustrations

Tables are grids consisting of columns and rows that present numerical or verbal facts by categories. Figures include charts, graphs, diagrams, photographs, maps, musical examples, drawings and other images. All these types of nontextural material are collectively referred to as illustrations. All tables and figures must be referred to in the text by number (not by a phrase such as "the following table"). Charts, graphs, maps, and tables that are larger than the standard page should be attached as Appendices. Tables and illustrations should be centered (See figure 1 and table 1).

05. Photographs

High-quality colored or black-and-white photographs or reprints with sufficient clarity may be incorporated. Photographs with glossy finish and dark backgrounds should be avoided where possible. State 'Original in Color' in the title where color is used.

06. Binding

6.1. Cover Page (Hard Bound-if you are planning to a take a copy home)

6.2. Draft (Soft Bound)

The draft to be submitted to the supervisor and do the necessary corrections.

6.3. Final Submission (upload to the respective folder in the cloud)

The final corrected copy of the dissertation must be free from typographical, grammatical, and other errors when submitted. After making the alterations mentioned by the supervisor, final dissertation should be hardbound with the Black color.

The short name of the degree and the year submitted should be indicated at 80mm and 40 mm from the bottom of the spine respectively. The name of the candidate with initials should be mentioned 20mm from the top of the spine (See figure 2). Lettering on cover should be in GOLD.

1.2 Title Page

First page should be the title page (see Appendix – III). It should contain.

- The title & subtitle of the dissertation
- Candidate's full name
- Student's ID
- Official name of the degree to which the dissertation is submitted.
- Official name of the department
- The month and year of submission

1.3. Declaration, copyright statement and the statement of the supervisor

The following declaration should be made by the candidate following the signature and the date. A candidate, after a discussion with the supervisor/s can request an embargo for a particular dissertation for a given work for a given time or indefinitely. Such an embargo may override the statement made in the dissertation itself.

"I declare that this is my own work and this dissertation[1] does not incorporate without acknowledgement any material previously submitted for a Degree or Diploma in any other University or institute of higher learning and to the best of my knowledge and belief it does not contain any material previously published or written by another person except where the acknowledgement is made in the text.

[1] Remove inappropriate term

Also, I hereby grant to Sri Lanka Institute of Information Technology, the non-exclusive right to reproduce and distribute my dissertation, in whole or in part in print, electronic or other medium. I retain the right to use this content in whole or part in future works (such as articles or books).

Signature: Date:

The supervisor/s should certify the dissertation with the following declaration.

The above candidate has carried out research for the bachelor's degree Dissertation under my supervision.

Signature of the supervisor: Date

1.4. Abstract

Every copy of the dissertation must have an abstract. Abstracts must provide a brief introduction to the subject in addition to a concise summary of methodology, tests, results, conclusions, and recommendations (300 words or less).

It should also accompany a list of keywords (3-5), which could improve the accessibility of the dissertation in an online environment.

Abstract Title : Title case/Times New Roman 12-point Bold (If use other fonts, change the size appropriately)
Text : Times New Roman 11-point Light.
Spacing : Single line

1.5. Dedication
May be included if desired.

1.6. Acknowledgement

In the acknowledgement section, the student is required to declare the extent of assistance which has been given by his/her faculty/department staff, fellow students & external bodies, or others in the collection of materials and data, the design & construction of apparatus, the analysis of data and preparation of the dissertation. If the research was sponsored, it is necessary to mention the name of the funding organization and other details (if any). In addition, it is appropriate to highlight the supervision and advice given by the dissertation supervisor.

1.7. Table of contents (see Appendix - II)

All the main chapters and subsections of each chapter must be included in the table of contents with their page numbers. The page numbers of abstracts, acknowledgement and others which come first in the dissertation should also be included. Also, if there are any appendices and other addenda, should be included in the table of contents.

1.8. List of figures (see Appendix – IV)

If the dissertation contains any figures, then a separate list should be prepared including the name of the object and the page number. The chapter number should be included in defining the number of figures.

1.9. List of tables (see Appendix – V)

If the dissertation contains any tables, then a separate list should be prepared including the name of the object and the page number. The chapter number should be included in defining the number of tables.

1.10. List of abbreviations (see Appendix – VI)

Abbreviations must follow the international standards. When an abbreviation is used for the first time, it must be explained in the text. A separate list should be prepared for all abbreviations used in the dissertation with their full meaning. The abbreviations in the list should be arranged according to alphabetical order.

1.11. The body of the dissertation

The dissertation should start with an introduction and the last part of the dissertation should include the conclusions and recommendations. All the chapters of dissertation should have a title and a chapter number. Any new chapter should be started from a new page.

1.12. Reference list

A reference list[2] is the list of all books, articles, and other source of materials, which were referred and should be listed according to the international referencing method adopted. APA Style and IEEE Style are recommended.

Each reference entry should be single-spaced with double spacing between entries.

The 'Reference list' does not contain a chapter number.

1.13. Bibliography (if any)

1.14. Appendices (see Appendix – VII)

Supplementary material could be included as Appendices rather than in the main text. For example, Appendices may contain questionnaires, detailed descriptions on apparatus, extensive tables of raw data, computer programs, etc. All appendices must have page numbers written in the same typeface and size used for pagination throughout. If appendices contain photocopied material, the photocopies should be of letter quality.

[2] Necessarily the items referred to inside the body text of the dissertation.
